

Horace Mann retirement programs support state, municipal and education employees in Iowa

Horace Mann is continuing its services in the Iowa Retirement Investors' Club (RIC), through the Retirement Advantage[®] program. This mutual fund retirement program provides educational videos, explanations of available investment options, tools to help enrollees reach their objectives, and assessments to determine their investor type.

"We're excited to build upon the existing relationship with the Iowa Retirement Investors' Club (RIC) and help their state, education and municipal employees achieve a secure financial future," says Mike Weckenbrock, Senior Vice President of Retirement at Horace Mann. "Horace Mann's Retirement Advantage program helps employees get retirement-ready by providing access to a mutual fund platform along with a stable value solution to help them save for their future."

Thank you for trusting Horace Mann to help meet your retirement needs.
